

CONTACT:

Barrie K. Handy, APR
Firmwide Communications Manager
(206) 628-7404, barriehandy@dwt.com

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

January 31, 2007

THE LAW FIRM OF DAVIS WRIGHT TREMAINE LLP
NAMES EIGHT TO PARTNERSHIP

SEATTLE, JAN. 31, 2007 – The law firm of Davis Wright Tremaine LLP has named eight attorneys from four of its nine offices to partnership. “Our new partners are highly skilled and dedicated attorneys who reflect our firm’s values and who will add to our successful representation of our clients’ legal and business interests,” said firmwide managing partner Richard D. Ellingsen.

The new partners, their office location, age, and primary practice area(s) are as follows:

New York: Peter Karanjia, (32), media, First Amendment and intellectual property litigation.

Portland, Ore.: Jenna L. Mooney, (34), employment litigation and counseling and David C. Rocker, (43), commercial litigation.

Seattle: Frederick B. Burnside, (34), class action and consumer financial services litigation; James M. Haigh, (33), commercial transactions; and Sarah English Tune, (33), mergers and acquisitions and corporate transactions.

Washington, D.C.: K.C. Halm, (39), telecommunications and privacy/security regulation and litigation; and Constance M. Pendleton, (36), media and First Amendment litigation.

About Davis Wright Tremaine

Davis Wright Tremaine LLP is a law firm with Northwest roots and national reach. A business and litigation law firm with more than 480 attorneys, DWT has nine offices in Seattle, Bellevue (Wash.), Portland (Ore.), Anchorage (Alaska), Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York, Washington, D.C., and Shanghai, China. For more information, visit www.dwt.com.

###